WILDHORSE COMMUNITY GARDEN UPDATE

From Susan -

Thanks to everyone who has been helping us this year, we have an absolutely beautiful garden right now! So much has been accomplished this spring, by the City and by our volunteers. Now that the City has completed the provision of electricity to the garden area, Bob and Darrell have completed the water system. The irrigation on the plantings is controlled by a timer, so our plants get the water they need as they need it. We've completed the planting of the garden, from onions, tomatoes, peppers, squash (4 kinds), zucchini, cucumbers, cantaloupe, and green beans. The blackberries were planted last year and have bloomed like crazy this year. With the plants in the ground, we still need all the help we can get, with weeding and tending to the young plants. It won't be long before we will be looking for help harvesting!

We expect to have our first Farmer's Market the first or second Saturday in June. More on that later!

Speaking of the market, the City has also added sidewalks from the parking area to our new market pavilions, which are just outside the garden. Please feel free to stop by and see how nice everything is coming up. We send out emails and Facebook notifications when we have an organized group working in the Garden, but you can find someone out working almost any morning or evening!
